Terresa Adams is an associate in Axinn's antitrust group. She advises Fortune 500 clients on a range of antitrust matters, including merger review, government investigations, compliance, and complex litigation.

Terresa counsels clients on compliance with the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act and all phases of merger review, advises clients on emerging antitrust risks related to algorithmic pricing, artificial intelligence, and information sharing, develops corporate compliance programs and training, and maintains an active pro bono practice.

Prior to joining Axinn, Terresa practiced at an international law firm and served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Cheryl Pollak of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of New York. She also interned with the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Terresa earned her JD from Columbia Law School, where she was a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar and an editor of the Columbia Human Rights Law Review, and received The Parker School Certificate for Achievement in International and Comparative Law. She received her BA in Political Science from The Pennsylvania State University.
