Axinn is proud to sponsor the International Bar Association's Annual Competition Conference, being held September 4-5 in Florence, Italy.

Axinn Partner Michael Keeley will also be speaking during the conference, on a panel titled "The new world of merger control: Resilience, scale, global markets, investment, innovation, and (geo)political issues. How to navigate the new environment of merger control around the world." Panelists will discuss:

- How competition authorities are adapting merger review to address geopolitical risks, supply chain resilience, and rapid technological change.
- The expanding role of innovation, scale, national security, FDI laws, and other non-competition factors in merger assessments.
- Key enforcement trends, including the impact of the EU's forthcoming merger control guidelines.
- Practical insights from regulators, practitioners, and companies on navigating today's evolving merger review landscape.
