Jason Rylander is the manager of eDiscovery in the firm's Connecticut office, where he leads the firm's team of eDiscovery attorneys. Since joining Axinn in 2016, Jason has worked extensively on antitrust matters, including multiple Second Requests, IP litigations, and antitrust litigations. Jason is on the faculty of Cleveland State University College of Law's E-Discovery Certificate program and has been featured on the Law & Candor podcast.

Prior to joining Axinn, Jason was staff attorney at a global law firm in New York City, where he handled eDiscovery aspects of governmental investigations and complex litigations. Before that, he was an associate at another leading New York City law firm. He received a JD degree from New York University School of Law and a BA in International Relations from Pomona College. Jason is admitted to practice law in the states of New York and Connecticut.
