On October 15, Axinn partner Jason Murata will speak on the “Intersectionality of Intellectual Property with Licensing and Commercialization” panel at Life Sciences Patent Network’s North America Fall Conference, being held October 15-16 in San Francisco.

Panelists will discuss:

- The interaction between patents and licensing agreements, examining how strategic IP management can be instrumental in securing favorable licensing deals, attracting investors, and gaining competitive advantages;
- The importance of risk mitigation, particularly in avoiding infringement, as a key component of successful commercialization strategies;
- The role of global pre-grant opposition, post-grant opposition, and litigation in shaping the patent landscape and;
- Insights into how these legal mechanisms can be leveraged to challenge or defend patent rights, ultimately maximizing the value of your IP assets.
