Hyung Jo (James) Choi is an associate in Axinn's Antitrust group. His practice focuses on civil litigations, criminal investigations and merger reviews.

James earned his JD from The George Washington University Law School, where he served as senior executive editor of The George Washington Law Review and was a research assistant for Professor William Kovacic. During law school, James also worked as a student attorney for GW Law's Public Justice Advocacy Clinic and as a legal intern with the Federal Trade Commission's Office of International Affairs. He was a summer associate with Axinn in 2023.

Before law school, James worked as a journalist for a major newspaper in South Korea and for an international news agency as its correspondent in Seoul, where he wrote articles on various economic and legal topics.

James holds a BA in International Studies from Yonsei University.
