PROFILE

Brooke Oppenheimer's practice focuses on discovery, cybersecurity, and data protection. Brooke regularly advises clients on general discovery litigation strategy, data management, privacy, security compliance, and breach response. Further, Brooke manages large document review projects and productions in preparation for depositions, expert discovery and trial.

Prior to joining the firm, Brooke managed the electronic discovery for government investigations and criminal proceedings, and advised federal agencies on eDiscovery readiness and strategy. Before focusing her practice on eDiscovery and cyber, she had the opportunity to assist in the defense of two high profile Kosovar Albanians at the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) and provided legal representation to unlawfully detained children in East Africa.

Brooke received her law degree from New England School of Law and a M.Sc. in Cybersecurity Policy from the University of Maryland (University College).
