Axinn's Antitrust practice recognized as a Silver Award winner and placed in contention for Gold Medal

May 14, 2010 – New York, NY -- The International Legal Alliance Summit & Awards, has recognized Axinn as one of the best antitrust law firms in the U.S. and has put them in contention to win the Gold medal at this year's awards ceremony, to be held June 3, 2010, in Paris. The International Legal Alliance Summit & Awards is an internationally recognized legal award conducted in conjunction with the Practical Law Company, Association of Corporate Counsel (Europe), The European Lawyer, Magazine Decideurs, The International Jurists Council, leading bar associations, and in-house counsel from many of America's top companies. The awards identify distinguished U.S. law firms for the excellence of their attorneys and their ability to provide clients with unrivaled experience and strategy. This year, under the co-direction of John Briggs and John Harkrider, Axinn's antitrust practice has continued to flourish as the firm has been called on for some of the most important antitrust issues in the news.
